Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant response filed 4/16/2009 is acknowledged. However, the previous restriction requirement submitted on March 18, 2009 inadvertently failed to address all the claims filed in the supplemental amendment submitted on 10/18/2005. Upon further review, the new restriction requirement is being submitted herein to address all of the pending claims of the instant invention.

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-23 and 37-39, drawn to a method of preparing DNA fragments and fragments prepared by the method.

Group II, claim(s) 24, 28, 31-35, cDNA chip and kit.

Group III, claim(s) 27 and 36, drawn to a method of hybridizing nucleic acids.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The invention of Groups I-III do not correspond to the same special technical feature because the broadest first named invention, namely the cDNA and kit of invention II are not "special" and do not provide a contribution over the prior art. The cDNA chip and kit as broadly claimed has no common relationship to any of the other claims recited therein. Further, a cDNA chip and kit are well known in the prior art. For example, Uemori et al

(US 20030186312) teach a kit (see claims 1-9) and Hefti (US 6287776) teaches a cDNA chip (col. 52, lines 57 to col 53, line 34). MPEP 1850 [R-7] states "[L]ack of unity of invention may be directly evident "a priori," that is, before considering the claims in relation to any prior art, or may only become apparent "a posteriori," that is, after taking the prior art into consideration".

Given the claims of invention II and the teachings of the prior arts, the claims of Groups I-III do not correspond to the same special technical feature. Additionally, the different inventions of Groups I-III do not correspond to the same special technical feature because they have different modes of operations and method steps ultimately resulting in different effects.

A search burden exists if the different inventions of Groups I-III are search together because the searches of the different inventions are not coextensive. Specifically a search of the method of invention I is not required for or is not necessary for the search of the kit of invention II or the hybridization method of invention II and visa versa. Prior art searches which may teach the kit of invention II or teach the hybridization method of invention III may have no knowledge of how the DNA fragments used in the kit or hybridization method are prepared. Accordingly, the searches of the different invention results in searches of non-overlapping subject matter.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, and the search required for each group is not required for the other groups because each group requires a different non-patent literature search due to each group comprising different products and/or method steps, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to CYNTHIA B. WILDER whose telephone number is (571)272-0791. The examiner can normally be reached on a flexible schedule.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Gary Benzion can be reached on (571) 272-0782. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
